Editorial Review

Review

I read this manuscript with great scrutiny for I have been a pioneer, promoter and defender of prophets and prophetic ministry for 55 years. I can honestly say that Jennifer covers some very delicate subjects with sound wisdom and integrity.

The integrity of prophets is as important as the accuracy of their prophecies. People need to know that there are true and false prophets and what makes them true or false. There are also those who are called to be prophets but who are immature, lack sound biblical knowledge, have more zeal than wisdom, or who are presumptuous.

Thank God there are now numerous mature prophets with godly character and pure motives who are being true representatives of Jesus Christ, the Prophet of all holy prophets and prophetic ministries. Thanks Jennifer for bringing greater clarity and correctness for prophets and saints who participate in prophetic ministry. --Dr. Bill Hamon, Bishop, Christian International

Jennifer LeClaire's book, in my estimation, is one of the best books on prophecy available. Very informatively, she writes as one who believes, understands and participates in prophecy.

The reader catches her intense desire to see the gift of God function powerfully in prophets of integrity. She describes about a dozen prophetic types, using illustrations, history and abundant Scriptures in a most entertaining way.

This book will help anyone interested in the prophetic understand the high and holy calling -- and proper function --Ernest Gentile, author, Your Sons and Daughters Shall Prophesy

It is so brilliant to be challenged! Every ministry needs to be aware of the kingdom standard that Jesus provokes by His presence.

I loved this book! Jennifer does a bold, insightful job of discerning the precious from the worthless (Jeremiah 15:19) yet also pursues us with the love of God. Political correctness is the spirit of this age and it requires people with boldness, good character and the heart of God to stand and speak the truth with power, authority, mercy and grace.

It seems that we are entering another season where prophets will be vilified, hounded and get killed again. Jennifer's book enables us to understand how important it is for us to be clean, pure and righteous so that we might die for the best of reasons ... that we are a thorn in the flesh of the church and a powerful enemy against the occult.

I adored all the chapter headings; so imaginative. Now all we need is for apostles, pastors, teachers and evangelists to follow Jennifer's lead and write a book based on those titles, for their own ministry disciplines. It's great to see the prophets out in front, cleaning their own house. Good job, Jennifer! --Graham Cooke, author, Approaching the Heart of Prophecy
