The Making Of A Young Entrepreneur: A Kid's Guide To Developing The Mind-Set For Success By Gabrielle Jordan

A 16-year-old earning $60,000 a month working with such clients as IBM and Microsoft? A 14-year-old earning $1.2 million in a year . . . making jam? The number of child entrepreneurs has increased unimaginably over the past 20 years, and this rate will not decrease anytime soon. The Making of a Young Entrepreneur is geared toward helping kids build a solid business foundation using the same principles the author employed when she started her own business at age 9. This book is a golden display of the heart of a young girl who wants to see people reach their full potential by refusing to be spectators of their own dreams!

When I was a youngster I learned early that if you wanted a bike or other goodies, you needed to be willing to work for them! I had a paper route and a dog walking service and eventually bought the bike of my dreams. I share that story to let you know that this book is a terrific book by a terrific young lady who is going to make us all say Wow! Gabrielle is a little force of nature who I know will eclipse many of the accomplishments of many older entrepreneurs because not only is she doing business, but she has taken it another level by reading business books as a child and now writing a business book, before her teens years! Read this book and share it with others, and you too will be inspired and empowered! --Willie Jolley - Award Winning Speaker, Media Personality and Author

Making of a Young Entrepreneur is a must read! Gabrielle has hit the mark on a wide range of fundamental tips, strategies, and exercises that will equip youth who are contemplating entrepreneurship sure success. Gabrielle's passion for her business at a young age shines through each page of the book and is simply refreshing. The content is easy to comprehend, yet, possess the impact of a seasoned entrepreneur.
