Sting (Spark Series #4) (Volume 4) By Jennifer Ryder

Going undercover has its challenges. When Detective Ryan Clark is sent to the sleepy coastal town of Fremantle to dismantle the country's most lethal drug syndicate, it's worth the risk. Even if he becomes a fatality, in the war against drugs. Ryan finds himself coming back to the same coffee shop. Blondie, the local barista, has him hot under the collar and reaching for his piece. He knows the attraction isn't just one-sided. She's trying to keep her distance. It only makes him want her more. Willow Asher left it all behind, but not by choice. After two long years, she's finally getting somewhere. Willow has a busy café with her buxom business partner, Gabby, who is the closest thing she has to family. Although Willow's past still plagues her thoughts, she's determined to have her happily-ever-after. As soon as her demons stop haunting her. What she doesn't need is the complication of Mr Sexy-Brown-Eyes, who seems to be drinking more and more coffee. She doesn't want the questions. She's still trying to get her story straight. For over 18 years. Contains Adult themes. CAN BE READ AS A STAND-ALONE

Editorial Review

About the Author

A sexy imagination, a life-long love of books and a sucker for romance, Jennifer Ryder couldn't stifle her creativity any longer. Writing steamy adult romance has become her new focus. Living on a rural property in New South Wales, Australia, she enjoys the best of city and country. Her loving husband is ever willing to provide inspiration, and her two young cherubs, and sheep that don't see fences as barriers, keep life more than interesting. Jennifer placed third in the International Stringybark Erotic Short Fiction Award 2013.
