Unexpected Consequences

As a powerful Dallas oil executive, planning is what Lizzie Baron does best. But she certainly didn't plan on getting pregnant following one memorable night after a rodeo in Fort Worth. Now she needs to figure out how she's going to raise a baby with a man she barely knows.

Aspiring bronc rider Chris Miller always hoped he'd see Lizzie again, though not quite like this. The pregnancy is a surprise—and so is finding out she's a member of the powerful Baron clan—but the more Chris gets to know Lizzie, the more he realizes he wants to be with her. When Lizzie learns Chris works for a rival company, she feels betrayed. Can two perfect strangers trust each other enough to become the perfect family?

Editorial Review

From the Author

Dear Reader,

Welcome to the Texas Rodeo Barons miniseries! I'm so thrilled to be kicking it off with The Texan's Baby, a story about how sometimes the things we need most happen when we least expect it--and don't recognize it either. That happens for Lizzie Baron when she crosses paths with Christopher Miller. That evening changes both their lives forever. At first it seems like their chance encounter turns their worlds upside down, but before long it's clear that this accidental pregnancy really is a blessing in disguise.

I'm new to the Harlequin American line, and when change happens it can be a teensy bit scary. It can also be wonderful, and over the past months I've met and gotten to know many of the authors of this amazing line. Every single one has been welcoming and generous and down-to-earth. I got to meet several of them in person in Atlanta in the summer of 2013, and our wonderful editors, too. I have to say, I think I landed in clover! Working with the other authors on this project has been a fabulous experience. They write from their hearts, and the women behind the words are just as warm and friendly as the stories they write.

I hope you enjoy Lizzie and Chris's story, and come back for the other great titles in the series, starting with Trish Milburn's The Texan's Cowgirl Bride, out next month!

Happy reading,

Donna

From the Inside Flap

There she was, pushing him away again.

"Wouldn't it be easier to go with you?" Chris asked.

"People will get the wrong idea."

"So what? Eventually they're going to know we had sex. You said it yourself. Showing up together makes it look as if there was more to it than a one-nighter. Unless there's another reason why you don't want me around?"

Lizzie blushed.

"Is there another reason, Lizzie?"

"Like what?" She lifted her chin and he saw the spark of defiance in her eyes. He liked it. Liked her when she got a little fired up. She'd been this way before, too. A little on edge. Exciting.

He moved closer, saw her pupils widen, and that's when he knew. The cool, calm demeanor wasn't completely real. Oh, he had no doubt that she wanted it to be, but it wasn't. Another step put him directly in front of her, close enough that he could smell the light floral scent of her shampoo, see the way her pulse beat heavily at her throat.

"What are you doing?" she whispered.

"Shh," he ordered as he contemplated his next move.
