Editorial Review

From Library Journal

Based on the printed Time-Saver Standards for Landscape Architecture (McGraw, 1997) by Nicholas Dines and Charles Harris, this highly specialized disc is a landscape designer's dream come true. Covering a wide variety of project types (from public plazas to private gardens), it will be useful to the individual homeowner/ do-it-yourselfer as well as to professional landscape architects. The advantages it offers over print are many, the most impressive of which are the more than 350 landscape details in CAD and PICT formats with color photographs of completed examples. The highly customizable interactive designs are very easy to follow and should be comprehensible to most. Bottom Line: Highly recommended for public and academic libraries serving landscape architects; recommended, too, for serious gardeners' home libraries.
